FEBRUARY 21 – MARCH 21, 2020

Fiberarts Guild of Pittsburgh, Inc. • 2020 Membership Exhibition

Brew House Association Gallery • 711 South 21st Street • Pittsburgh PA 15203

Artists see the world through many lenses and experiences. Artists are invited to consider aspects of their views, values and experiences to create entries for this show. Through the art, the viewer will be invited to consider the artists' intent.

Juror Merrill Comeau uses an extensive combination of fiber techniques. The process for her FI2019 submission, "Family of Origin," is documented in a TextileArtist.org interview titled Merrill Comeau: from concept to creation.

Juror Merrill Comeau is a mixed media artist creating installations, murals, and garments examining narratives of repair and regeneration. Comeau deconstructs, reconstructs, and alters clothing and linens to disrupt, reorder, and build stories exploring common human concerns. She is known for her work exploring women's history, gender identity development, and autobiographical narrative. Comeau has participated in over 70 exhibitions including Fuller Craft Museum, Danforth Art Museum, Southern New Hampshire University, and Fiberart International 2019.

Comeau has completed ten artist residencies including three month-long stays at Weir Farm National Historic Site in Connecticut where she researched the Weir family women's lives to use as art-making inspiration. Comeau's work has been showcased in numerous publications including TextileArtist.org, Fiber Art Now, Mass Cultural Council's ArtsSake blog, and World of Threads Artist Interviews. In addition to her solo studio practice, Comeau has extensive experience as a teaching artist. Committed to the use of visual expression as storytelling, transmitting knowledge, and teaching values, she has facilitated over 30 community art projects.

Since 2012, she has been a teaching artist for the Department of Youth Services, making art with youth at risk involved in the Massachusetts court system and residing in secure treatment centers.
